

Literature Circle Role

REAL-LIFE CONNECTOR

Your job:

Your job is to find parts of the story that remind you of things that happen to you or someone else in real life. When you describe the real-life connection, give as many details as possible.

When you meet with the other members:

Describe the section of the story that reminds you of your real life. Then, tell how something similar happened to you or someone you know. After that, you can ask everyone in your group of anything similar has happened to them or someone they knew.
