Write a summary that describes what happened in the story. Be sure that you write in complete sentences and include lots of details. Your writing should fill most (or all) of the lines below. If you need more space, continue on the back.

When you meet with the other members:

You will read the summary to the members. Before you start, tell the other members to listen to your summary carefully and tell you about important parts that you've missed, once you are done. Also, have each person tell you about their favourite part.
